Into a bowl of boiling water, pour a teaspoonful of HYOMEL, cover head and bowl with a towel, and breathe deep into the lungs the healing vapor that arises.

Breathe this vapor for five or ten minutes until the head feels fine and clear, then go to bed and sleep soundly until morning. No cocaine or opium or harmful drugs in HYOMEL. It is made of Australian eucalyptus and other antiseptics. It is guaranteed to end catarrh, or money back.—Advt.

Facts and Fiction

Experiences of Barre Citizens Are Easily Proven to Be Facts.

The most superficial investigation will prove that the following statement from a resident of Barre is true. Read it and compare evidence from Barre people with testimony of strangers living so far away you cannot investigate the facts of the case. Many more citizens of Barre endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

H. J. Ennis, barber, 11 South Main street, Barre, Vt., says: "Sometime ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they proved to me that what I had often read about them in the papers was true. When I began to have trouble with my kidneys, I got Doan's Kidney Pills right away, as members of my family had received great benefit from them. I had sharp pains across the small of my back, I used Doan's Kidney Pills and the pain was driven away. I have had no trouble since. It is a pleasure for me to recommend such an excellent remedy as Doan's Kidney Pills."

HEALS WOUND IN ONE DAY

And Will Mend Broken Leg Within Four Days

BIG ADVANCE IN SURGERY

Dr. Alexis Carrel, Nobel Prize Winner, Explains His Experiments

New York, Jan. 4.—The possibility of healing a cutaneous wound in less than twenty-four hours and repairing a fractured leg in four or five days is the latest prediction by Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in the current issue of the Journal of Experimental Medicine.

Dr. Carrel recently received the 1912 Nobel prize for medicine. Since 1907 he has been conducting a series of experiments, chiefly with mixtures of thyroid extract. Dr. Carrel commenced his experiments upon live animals but gave up this procedure for the laboratory method. Tissues removed from animals and placed in different media in glass jars were treated with macerations of various strength made from combinations of thyroid extract and pulp of the liver, heart, kidney, spleen, muscles and blood corpuscles.

Connective tissues placed in blood plasma were used as standards to determine the comparative reparative properties of the other media. In many instances the rate of cell proliferation was thirty times greater in the combination of thyroid fluid extract and organic maceration than in the blood plasma. In the standard solution of blood plasma, Dr. Carrel says.

Writing of his experiments in the Journal of Experimental Medicine under the title "Artificial Activation of the Growth in Vitro of Connective Tissue," Dr. Carrel says:

"If the factors that bring about the multiplication of cells and the growth of tissues were discovered, it would perhaps become possible to activate artificially the process of repair. Then aseptic wounds could probably be caused to cicatrize more rapidly. If the rate of the reparation of tissues were activated ten times only, a cutaneous wound would heal in less than twenty-four hours and a fracture of the leg would be cured in four or five days."

"It is permissible to think that this hypothesis is not unreasonable. Jacques Loeb, in his fundamental experiments on artificial parthenogenesis, has demonstrated that cell division can be induced by slight changes in the composition of the sea water in which the sea urchin's eggs are placed."

"It might even be supposed that certain modifications of the medium would bring about the multiplication of their cells."

"In 1907 and 1908 I began, therefore, to study the processes of reparation of small cutaneous wounds and the action of a great many substances on the rate of their cicatrization. It was found that the proliferation of epithelium and of connective tissue was activated under certain conditions by dressings made with the pulp of tissues and organs."

"For instance, thyroid gland pulp deposited on cutaneous wounds of the dog brought about the formation of exuberant granulations. Applied to bones, it produced a marked thickening of the periosteum. The external coat of an artery preserved in cold storage in a mixture of thyroid gland and Locke's solution, and transplanted afterward into a dog's carotid, underwent an enormous hypertrophy."

He, as chairman of the corresponding committee of the Senate, is referred to as "the mayor of Washington." Chiefly incident to his testimony was a severe castigation of Lieutenant Colonel W. V.
